

4 reasons why you should support the EAS Youth Forum 2015

CHARTING THE FUTURE WE WANT

Engaging Young Champions
for the Ocean beyond 2015

The EAS Youth Forum 2015 will once again gather young leaders in the East Asian Seas (EAS) region to enhance their potentials as future champions and advocates of our oceans and coasts. Since 2006, the EAS Youth Forum has convened more than 200 young innovators in the region highlighting the youth's crucial role in the sustainable development of the seas of East Asia.

Here are four reasons why you should take part in this exciting and dynamic event:

1 Sponsor

Take the opportunity to support young researchers, community organizers and youth leaders to join this exciting event and support their environmental researches and on-the-ground initiatives.

Have a say in developing the EAS Youth Forum 2015 programme of activities and outputs on the theme, "Charting the Future We Want: Engaging Young Champions for the Ocean Beyond 2015."

2 Influence

3 Empower

Be recognized as key partner in empowering the youth and help in building a pool of committed young champions and leaders working towards a safer and healthier oceans and coasts.

Build meaningful collaborations with the young champions, known experts, scientists, policymakers and other regional and international organizations present at the East Asian Seas Congress 2015.
